

Reservation Deposit Agreement

Magnolia Ragdolls maintains a reservation queue. The reservation queue is an ordered list of purchasers that have paid a non-refundable $300 deposit towards the total price of a future, unborn kitten, giving them the right to select a born kitten following the reservation order. The reservation order will be maintained based on the date a purchaser commits to or places the $300 deposit. For example, if a purchaser places their reservation deposit first, they will have the first pick of a future litter; if a purchaser places their reservation deposit second, they will have the second pick of a future litter, and so on.

The purchaser will have a maximum of 14 days after Magnolia Ragdolls informs them that they can select a kitten before the next purchaser in line can choose their pick. Magnolia Ragdolls holds the sole right to consider special circumstances that merit an extension or decrease to the selection window. If the 14-day selection period expires prior to the purchaser placing the 50% Purchase Deposit (see contract), the purchaser forfeits their place in the reservation queue and will be bumped 3 spots down the queue.

If a purchaser decides not to select a kitten from the current available litters, they can opt to select a kitten from a litter produced in the future.

Prior to placing a reservation deposit, the purchaser will be informed by Magnolia Ragdolls of where they will place in the reservation order.
